

By signing this covenant I realize that I am making a promise to God and to this group to uphold the following. I promise to treat that covenant with respect and keep myself accountable on following through.

I pledge to attend worship every Sunday prior to Three18. I realize that worship is a spiritual discipline that is important to my spiritual growth. I realize that worship provides me the opportunity to express praise to our savior, dive into scripture and be mentored by a diverse group of people.

I pledge to attend Three18 meetings every Sunday. I realize that saying yes to Three18 this will mean I will have to say no to other things. I realize that when I miss a meeting I am altering the community of Three18. I realize that my absence will not only affect me, but my peers.

I pledge that I will come prepared to every Three18 meeting. I realize that I will only get out of this program what I am willing to give. I realize that the work given to me is not busy work, but tools for me to use both now and later in life on my journey towards God.

I pledge to participate in group discussion. I realize that I am a valuable part of this community and my words and thoughts are worthy of being shared. I realize that by continuing group discussion, I am not only allowing God's word to enter my heart and mind, but I am also aiding my group members in their faith journey as well.

I pledge to seek first to understand. I realize others will have different opinions/insights than my own, but I will ask thoughtful questions and try to understand my fellow group members. I realize that I will disagree with my group members, but I will not put down anyone else or refer to them as "wrong" or that they need to be "fixed."

I pledge to memorize the assigned scripture for each week. I realize that the Word of God is spiritual food that I can carry around with me. I realize that this scripture was intentionally chosen to apply to not only my life but to aid in spiritual discussions I have with others.

I pledge to mentor 1-2 junior high youth along my spiritual journey with Three18. I realize that this is an opportunity for me to share Jesus with a younger student, but also have my eyes opened and receive teachings as well. I realize this is a chance for me to become better connected within the youth group and for me to show God's love to others.

This is what you are pledging to the Three18 group. In return, this is what I, Becca Boren, as the leader of Three 18, will pledge to you.

I pledge to provide a safe place for discussion. I realize that the world is full of controversy and you will need a place where you can ask questions and receive answers or opinions. Your words will never be discredited during a Three18 meeting.

I pledge to show up to meetings prepared with topics and discussion points. I realize that you are making a commitment by joining this group and I therefore promise to not waste your time. I realize that this is an opportunity for you to have your questions answered and to dive deep and I will not discredit that.

I pledge to be understanding when conflicts arise. I realize that Three18 is not the only priority you have and life happens. I realize there are some obligations that cannot be moved or missed.

I pledge to foster, not dominate discussion. I realize there will be times when I need to clarify things or provide information, but this is not my time; it is yours. I realize you are mature and capable of holding theological discussions.

I pledge not to force my views on to you. I realize Three18 is a community, not a dictatorship. I realize our time spent together is not about me.

I pledge to value you and love you as children of God. I realize that each and every one of you are unique individuals who bring a variety of gifts to the table. I realize there is worth in you and there is a reason you were brought to our group.

I make this covenant before God and before my peers.
